in their
family production
of

William Shakespeare's

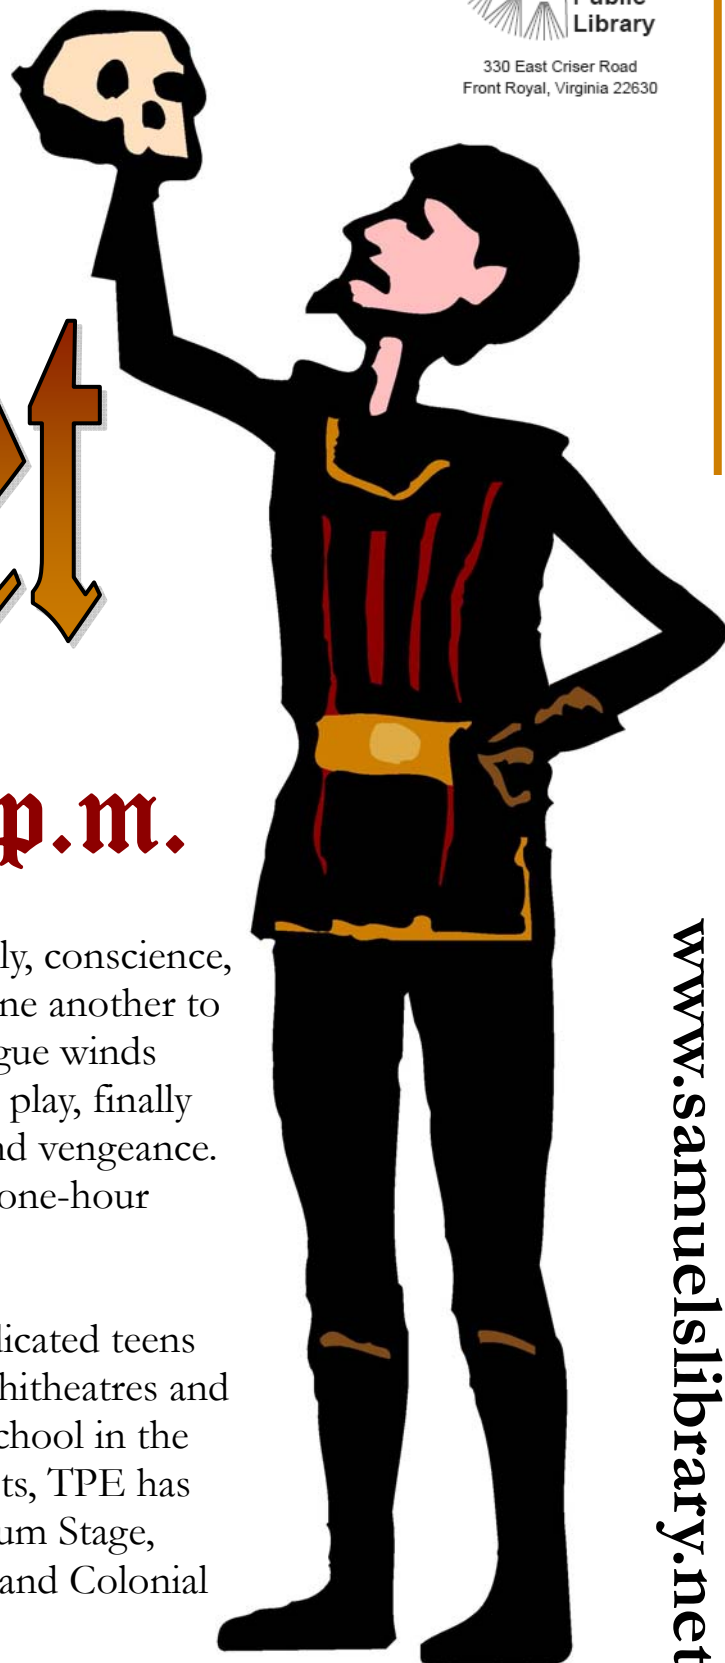

Hamlet

in an hour!

March 13, 2:00 p.m.

Hamlet is Shakespeare's masterpiece of family, conscience, and revenge. As family members try to trap one another to discover their secrets, a complex web of intrigue winds itself around the edges of a seemingly simple play, finally unraveling into a real-life drama of murder and vengeance. Families are welcome to attend this abridged one-hour production!

The Traveling Players Ensemble trains dedicated teens (ages 11-18) to perform classical texts in amphitheatres and other public spaces. Selected as a "Summer School in the Arts" by the National Endowment for the Arts, TPE has performed at The Kennedy Center's Millennium Stage, Wolf Trap's International Children's Festival, and Colonial Williamsburg.
